SEA BOMBARDMENT.

Ships "Yoniting Hall Fire."

A representative of the Mail who was aboard a ship following the Naval operations on the coast of Belgium, says:

"Apart from the cruiser Venerable, the squadron comprised fifteen destroyers with sufficiently powerful artillery, but having little drawing power suitable for shallow waters, such as are found off the coast of Belgium. The German Edda Major absolutely desired to take Nicu-port, and he sent against that town masses of troops followed by formidable armaments.

"That force is being bombarded without relaxation by the Fleet, whose firing has resulted in a terrible carnage amongst the Germans. Armoured vessels, with heavy guns of long range and exceedingly mobile, have bombarded effectively the country for more than ten kilometers, and have literally vomited 'hell fire' in that region, which is particularly flat.
The enemy is easily picked out and distinguished.

"The Germans have experienced terrible losses. Their batteries have been destroyed and although they have sent to the coast some of their most powerful guns, their firing on our vessels has done but little damage. The losses to our Naval squadron are insignificant.

"On October 20th one of the torpedo destroyers, L'Aventurier, which practically advanced near the Nicuport jetty in order to destroy the enemy's battery, was practically smothered by a rain of shells of large calibre, which burst all around her, but not a single person on board was struck. The German battery was annihilated by the fire of the L'Aventurier.

The account also states that these operations were directed by Rear Admiral Hood, of the British Fleet.

A Natural
RemedyTime was when disease was thought to be due to the direct influence of evil spirits, and exorcism and magic were invoked to cast it out.Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits exist still. We call them "Disease Germs," and they also must be cast out. Once lodged in the stomach or intestines, fever with irregularities, or biliousness with its aches and pains, is the result.ENO'S FRUIT SALTis the approved remedy for driving out disease germs. Its action is quick and thorough. It clears the intestines, rouses the torpid liver to new life, stimulates the mucous membrane to a healthy action, and cleanses and invigorates the whole digestive tract.It may be safely taken at any time by young or old.It is very effective in the early stage of Diarrhoea by removing the irritating cause.
Be prepared for emergencies by always keeping a bottle in the house.

LIFE IN THE NORTH SEA.

Humours of a Battleship.

Life on the North Sea is well depicted in a letter received by the brother of a Welsh officer; the humorous as well as the serious phase being cleverly portrayed. The writer, who is a surgeon in the Navy, says:

Thank you very much for your letter.

Letter means more to men now than they have ever done before. Life on board during active service is necessarily hard and grim, full of discomforts and alarms, but, for all that, it is astonishing how one and all make the best of things, how one finds one's eye on the bright side. Occasionally one detects in ordinary conversation the unforgettable fact that we are at any moment liable to be hurled into eternity. On a dark, bitterly cold, stormy night, for example, a man cheerfully reminds the rest of us that a torpedo would make our last moments very unpleasant indeed in such a way.

Personally I get a lot of fun out of my shipmates. My servant is a source of unending amusement to me. He is a Marine Reservist: one knows that because just below the lowest of a series of very whimsical clues he keeps his tunic closed, and upon the collar is his badge and the letter "R." He has many prophecies in the equatorial regions, he has several teeth knocked out on the port side of his face; and keeps a rusty little executive, which was once an ear, on the starboard side. Both these disfigurements are relics of youthful scrapes. He seldom talks. He walks with stupendous dignity.

Fortunately there are times when he loosens his tongue and unbinds his dignity. At such a moment he confided to me that he is a "Hex Pug." This

I gathered was only his way of saying that he is an expatriate. I can only say that he thoroughly looks his part, notwithstanding the fact that years and fat have somewhat spoiled him down.

THE PUNY PEOPLE.

Then there is the bugler, a cheery, perry little chap of 15. Unfortunately, every member of the crew, for no apparent reason, fetches him a clip on the ear if he happens to come within arm's length and provided there is no officer about. You will gather, therefore, that he walks through life warily and very circumspectly. But is he downhearted?

No. He bobs his head up with a decided unpleasant situation with calm-like pluck;

with a frantic effort he recovers his dignity, and his features then reveal the satisfied and joyful condition of his soul. What if his outlook on life is made gloomy and melancholy when a ship is fetched on the ear? Is it not immediately made bright and cheerful again by daily receiving an elusive tongue?

I always picture him as he appeared one night in the North Sea. We had a nasty surprise about 10.30. It was pitch dark and foggy at the time. The lookout suddenly came upon a warship about half a mile ahead. We made a recognition signal, but got no reply.

Simply because we were still in a bank of fog, and the other ship could not see our light signals. Without exaggeration we were in full fighting trim within 60 seconds, every man—many only half dressed—on his post, decks cleared, guns loaded, spare shells in readiness, aim-set. The first sound of a bugle would have caused our guns to spit out steel death into the ship ahead. But where was the bugler? The poor child was still fast asleep. In one second he was the centre of an agitated crowd. "What a display of energy, of language, of clip-pity on the ear, of tongue swallowing, of joyful recovery!" One large man shot him up the gangway and deposited him—a dazed and bewildered little fellow—upon the deck; a still larger man rammed the back part of a bugle down where his tongue usually clipped. With his contemptuous dignity he resumed both the bugle and his tongue, and "dolefully shouted," "Where's my brass?" "I ain't got my brass on." Fortunately, at that moment our signal was repeated, and this time answered by one of our own ships. Within five minutes practically every man was in his place, including the poor bugler, just as if nothing had happened.

I will have that very superior one of the "Variety" dance class at the

300 MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD.GERMAN SAVAGERY AT ANDENNE.

RELLESS CIVILIANS CUT DOWN WITH AXES.

No more appalling story of savage brutality on the part of the German soldiers has been told than that contained in the narrative issued recently by the Press Bureau, of the sack of Andenne.

The facts have been verified by a member of the Belgian Commission of Enquiry, by whom the report was furnished to the Press Bureau. It is abundantly clear that dozens of civilians were killed in cold blood, many of them being actually cut down with axes and the entire town was pillaged and partly burned.

In Andenne and Sallières 300 people were murdered, and some 300 houses were destroyed. The usual excuse was made that the Germans had been fired on by civilians, but this is absolutely disproved by the surviving inhabitants.

Andenne is on the right bank of the Meuse, between Namur and Huy, and is connected by a bridge with the village of Sallières on the opposite bank. According to the official report, the first contact between the Germans and the people was quite peaceful. The Germans, ordered reluctantly, which was satisfied. The soldiers at first paid for their purchases and for the drink which was served to them in the cafes. Towards the evening the situation began to grow more strained.

Whatever it was that discipline was setting relaxed; or that alcohol commenced to produce its effect, the soldiers began paying for what they were taking. The inhabitants were too scared to resist.

On Thursday, August 20, the troops delivered through the town in great numbers in the direction of the left bank.

Suddenly, at 4 o'clock in the evening, a single rifle shot was heard in the street.

The troops halted, their ranks fell into disorder, and nervous men fired haphazard. Presently a machine gun was set up at a corner, and commenced to fire against the houses.

The inhabitants, guessing what might happen, took refuge in their cellars, or sought safety in the open country or in distant cellars. Some were killed in their houses by shots fired from the street, or in some cases by soldiers who burst into their dwellings.

SOLDIERS KILLED WITH AN AXE.

Immediately afterwards commenced the pillage of the houses in the principal streets of the town. Every window shutter and door was broken in. Furniture was smashed and thrown out. The soldiers ran down into the cellars, got drunk there, breaking bottles of wine that they could not carry away. Finally a certain number of houses were set on fire. During the night single shooting broke out several times. The terrified population lay in their cellars.

Next day the soldiers spread through the town, driving all the population into the streets, and forcing men, women, and children to march before them with their hands in the air. Those who did not obey with sufficient promptness, or did not understand the order given them in German, were promptly knocked down. Those who tried to run away were shot.

Dr. Camus, the burgomaster, an old man of 70, against whom the Germans seemed to have some special spite, was wounded by a rifle shot, and then finished off by a blow from an axe. His body was dragged along by the feet for some distance. A watchmaker, a Fleming by birth, who had lived for some time in the town, was compelled out of his home on the order of the soldiers, supporting on his arm his father-in-law, an old man of 80. Naturally, therefore, he could not hold up both his hands as a soldier stepped up to him and struck him with an axe on the back.

His wife tried to bring him assistance, and was pushed back into the house, and had to see helplessly at the last agony of her husband. A soldier threatened to shoot her if she crossed the door sill.

A RUN-AROUND FRIEND.

Meanwhile the whole population was being driven towards the Place des Til-leuls. Old men, the sick, and paralysed were all brought there.

One man had in his pocket some empty cartridge-cases, both German and Belgian. He was immediately apprehended and set aside. He was a cobbler who had a wounded hand; the wound was a month old. An engineer was also put apart because he had in his pocket a spanner, which was considered as a vener.

Another man seems to have been arrested because his face showed his contempt and rage at what was going on.

These people were shot in presence of the crowd.

Subsequently the soldiers, on the order of their officers, picked out some 40 or 50 men, who were led off and all shot.

The rest of the men were kept for a long time in the Place. Among them

FRANCE'S SPLENDID FINANCIAL STABILITY.

(Official Telegram from French Government via Peking.)

Jan. 3rd, 1915.

The leading French Banking establishments have, of their own accord, given up from the first of January the benefit of the Montmorillon, and will henceforth pay on demand the whole of the deposits and current accounts. This measure enables considerable sums of money to be put again into general circulation, and proves clearly that although the war has already lasted five months and the country's forces are in close co-operation France's economical situation, far from being endangered, is, on the contrary, on a most healthy basis and shows in a striking manner France's financial prosperity. The country although being deprived temporarily of nearly all its resources has nevertheless, without having had recourse to publicity usually attending public subscriptions, covered the National Treasury Bonds for a sum exceeding two milliard francs (80 million sterling).

THE POPE APPEALS TO THE KAISER.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

His Holiness the Pope telegraphed at the end of the year to the Kaiser, appealing to his feelings of Christian charity to terminate the disastrous year and begin the New Year with an act of Imperial generosity by accepting a proposal for an exchange of prisoners for military service between the belligerents.

The Kaiser, replying, assured the Pope that he is in full sympathy with the feelings of Christian charity which inspired this proposal, and that it corresponds thoroughly with his own conviction and desires.

THE OPERATIONS IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM

LONDON, Jan. 2, 5.30 p.m.

A Paris communiqué says:—Our artillery achieved good results along the Aisne, silencing the enemy's batteries and dispersing concentrations of men.

We established ourselves on the Plateau of Nouvron in pits of mine explosion, and the Germans were unable to dislodge us.

The enemy violently bombarded the region of Rheims. We carried a wood in the Perthes district. The Germans made no counter-attack.

Local sapping at Bois-de-la-Gracie yesterday was successful. We regained a portion of the ground lost, and we are strongly holding other positions. We retained positions won in Woivre, and progressed at Bois-de-Petre. Our troops repelled an attack three kilometres north-east of Badoen Villiers, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy. The Germans also suffered severe casualties at Steinbach, where we carried three more lines of houses.

ALLIES' CONTINUE THE ATTACK.

LONDON, Jan. 2, 2.15 a.m.

The Paris evening official communiqué says:—Last evening there was an attack by the enemy, who attempted, after a lively fusillade, to debouch from Bois-de-Forges, on the left bank of the Meuse. They were immediately repulsed.

The positions we won at Steinbach have been maintained, and we continue to attack the enemy's positions.

There is nothing noteworthy to report elsewhere.

A DESPATCH FROM THE EYE-WITNESS.

LONDON, Jan. 2, 11.25 a.m.

The Press Bureau to-day published a despatch from the Eye-witness. It states that on December 23rd there was a hurricane, followed by a violent thunderstorm. Nothing notable occurred, as the weather and water-logged ground did not favour the carrying out of operations. However, the French progressed at some places, capturing St. George's and inflicting heavy losses. On December 29th our right gradually advanced and recovered much of the ground occupied by the enemy during the previous weeks. On the 30th the progress on the right was maintained. The 31st was equally uneventful. The fighting is taking place over a perfect labyrinth of excavations, and when there is any slackness in the operations the troops are hard at work constructing fresh defences.

ENEMY ATTACKS REPULSED.

LONDON, Jan. 2, 5.25 p.m.

To-day's Paris communiqué states that the enemy has delivered numerous attacks, all of which were repulsed. There has been a most violent artillery engagement northward of Lys, particularly on the dunes, and also at Nieport and Zonnebeke. The enemy has discontinued the counter-attacks on St. George's. All our gains have been maintained.

There have been artillery duels in the whole of the regions of Arras, Albert, and Roye. The Germans blew up two caissons between Beaumetz and Achicourt, and we responded by wrecking their trenches at Parvillers and Labaillie. We also silenced their mine-throwers at Fricourt.

A VIOLENT NIGHT FUSILLADE.

There is nothing fresh to report, except a violent night fusillade against the French trenches east of Vermeux and north of Chaulnes, and an unsuccessful German attack west of the forest of Consenvoye.

THE STRUGGLE IN POLAND.

RUSSIANS TAKE MANY PRISONERS.

LONDON, Jan. 2, 2.05 p.m.

A Petrograd official communiqué says:—Despite stubborn resistance, we took the enemy's earthworks at the village of Michanka, in the region of Gorlice, taking 3,000 prisoners, 68 officers, four guns, and 6 quick-firing. The engagement continues. After furious counter-attacks (had been repulsed) we occupied Stremetz and Radziszew, in Pokovnia.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED.

LONDON, Jan. 3, 6.00 a.m.

A Petrograd communiqué states that the Russian continue to repulse the German attacks at Buzza and Bawka despite the enemy's heavy artillery and bombs. The Germans captured some trenches between Viozozowa and Klele after severe fighting, but were driven out by an attack in the rear. The Russians captured several hundred prisoners, machine guns and positions, and in the Uzok Pass they captured a thousand prisoners.

THE LOSS OF THE "FORMIDABLE."

LONDON, Jan. 2, 10.10 p.m.

The Admiralty has issued another list of survivors of the Formidable's crew, bringing up the total to 201. The additional survivors included in the latest total reached Lyme Regis in a cutter. There were originally about 60 aboard. It is believed that some perished. The others were in an exhausted condition.

SERVICES OF INTERCESSION IN LONDON.

LONDON, January 2.

There were crowded congregations of all denominations at the intercession services to-day. The services were of most impressive nature, especially those at St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey, where they were concluded with an anthem. There were also special services at Westminster Cathedral.

"SNOW-WHITE AND THE FROG PRINCE."

This delightful Fairy Ballet was produced by the Hongkong Amateur Dramatic Club in the Theatre Royal on Saturday evening in aid of the Belgian Relief Fund. There was a very large audience. The ballet, arranged by Mrs. Somerville Dobie, was produced by Mr. A. W. Siegel. Such an excellent collaboration could not but result in an artistic triumph, especially as both had many able helpers to assist them with the numerous details such as a performance necessitates. This bright and entertaining little Fairy Play is in three parts, and each part was made a thing of beauty—emphatically a triumph of stagecraft such as few cities could produce. The result achieved by the large number of little ones who took part and the amount of work necessitated in making them efficient and dressing them appropriately reflected the greatest credit upon the collaborators and their assistants. Little Snow White, whose beauty and perfect innocence had made the Queen her angry rival, had to pass through quite a large number of wonderful experiences before she ultimately emerged as the radiant bride of the chivalrous Frog Prince, humanized and made very presentable by his tender solicitude of the little maiden in her wanderings. As already stated, the play is most beautifully produced—astonishingly well done, in fact; and all the more so when one remembers the limitations and the difficulties attending the production of such a play on so small a stage—and one not quite so well equipped as it might be. We most cordially congratulate Mr. Siegel and Mr. F. Grissell upon their artistic conception of stagecraft and upon this exquisite beauty of the various scenes presented. The play is the Amateur Dramatic Club's 102nd production, and it doubtless rivals the best that has ever been staged in Hongkong, and, in making this statement, we bear in mind the beautiful productions of "Twelfth Night," "The Blue Bird," and "The Ideal Husband." All lovers of a charming little play, most charmingly produced, must not neglect to see "Snow White and the Frog Prince."

The characters, all of whom acquitted themselves admirably, appeared as follows:—

Scene I.—THE QUEEN'S SOLAR.—(Evening.)
Scene II.—THE DWARF'S CAVE.—(Night and Morning.)

Characters: Mrs. J. Robertson and Miss D. Filkins.
The Seven Dwarfs or the Cave dwellers:—

Bernard Caldwell, Arthur Dean, Walker Blair, Amorelle Cleaves, Bobbie Tabet, Frank Beattie Blair.

A Belgian Soldier Doll, Kittie Blair.
Rabbits:—

Dollie Haynes, Millie Haynes, Gladys Woolley, Mabel Musson.

A Dragon Fly:—Mary Hyde.
Shadows of Emotion:—

Dorothy Squair, Winifred Morgan, Dorothy Filkins and Lily White.

Scene I.—THE QUEEN'S SOLAR.—(Morning.)
Scene II.—"MIST-BUTTERFLIES AND BRACKEN."—(Dawn.)

A Spirit of Night:—Miss L. White.
Bluebells:—

Dorothy Squair, Mary Hyde, Mabel Silas, Hilda Hatcher, Evie Woolley, Ellen Stubbings and Annie Miller.

A Spirit of Spring:—Miss L. White.
Sunbeams:—

Dorothy Squair, Winifred Morgan, Phyllis D'Almada, Castro, Marie, Souza, Ellen Stubbings, Mary Hyde, Annie Miller and Evie Woolley.

The Sunny:—Mr. R. A. Stokes.
The Prince:—Mr. H. G. Jenkinson.

The singing of Mrs. Robertson and Miss White, the acting of Mrs. Somerville Dobie, Miss Agnes Bishop, and Mr. Brown, and the dancing of Miss Filkins and Miss Mary Hyde are all deserving of special mention.

Mr. Denman Fuller, at the piano, performed a very important part with his well-known skill. "Fis music," selected, arranged and partly written by Mr. Fuller, was deliciously appropriate. During the rehearsal, it should be stated, Mrs. J. B. Suter kindly assisted at the piano.

The costumes have already been referred to, but special mention in this connection must be made of the great amount of work performed by Mrs. Somerville Dobie, assisted by Mrs. D. K. Blair. As stage assistants, Messrs. E. M. Richmond and F. W. Gibbins were very useful and Mr. W. A. Cornish, as stagehand, had an important part which he performed with much skill.

"Snow White and the Frog Prince" will again be produced on Wednesday at 4.00 o'clock. It thoroughly deserves many reproductions.

Scene I.—THE QUEEN'S SOLAR.—(Afternoon.)
The Queen:—Mrs. J. Somerville Dobie.
Her Attendants:—

Mrs. J. Robertson, Squair and Miss L. White.
Her Huntsmen:—

Messrs. T. W. Hill and R. A. Stokes.
Her Stepmother:—Snow-white:—

Miss Agnes Bishop.
Scene II.—"UNDER THE CHERRY TREE."—(Afternoon, Evening and Night.)

The Frog:—Mr. R. Brown.
The Nightingale:—Mrs. J. Robertson.
The Sandman:—Miss L. White.
The Jackdaw:—Miss D. Filkins.
The Elves:—

Mrs. J. Robertson, Mary Hyde, Mabel Silas, Mary Hamilton, Doris Winterbach, Annie Tolan, and Beattie Tolan.

"THE CHOICEST OF ALL CHOICE WATERS"

"PROCLAIMED THE PUREST NATURAL MINERAL WATER IN JAPAN"

"There are many so-called water factories in Japan, but most of these are situated in or near the towns, where it is difficult to ensure absolute purity by reason of the surroundings."

"We have visited the Gifford-Wilkinson Tansan Mineral Water Company's Works at Takayama and find that they are situated on a mountain-side, the source of the spring from which Tansan flows, in the open country and amidst ideal surroundings for the output of a pure water. We find that the works in all departments are not only under excellent supervision, but are so endowed by nature as to render any contamination practically impossible. The absolute cleanliness of all the conditions in and about the works especially impressed us. The water itself we have thoroughly tested and we find that it is free from bacteria or organic matter of any kind and we have pleasure in certifying that Tansan is the purest natural mineral water in Japan."
